

Water Main Cutover Work - Haberfield

Due to changes in Sydney Water scheduling, work to complete the water main cutover has been delayed.

From Friday, 6 July 2018, work to demobilise the work areas will commence. Demobilisation is expected to take up to 4 days to complete. Once the sites are demobilised, Alt Street will be reopened at Ramsay Street and Martin Street will also reopen at Ramsay Street. A map showing the current changed traffic conditions and work areas is provided overleaf.

Once Sydney Water provide us with a new cutover date, we will notify you and work will recommence.

What we're doing

This work will involve:

- backfilling and temporary remediation of work areas

Equipment used will include vacuum trucks, cranes, millers, pavers, drum rollers, excavators with hammers, compactor plates, trucks, concrete trucks, concrete saws, hand tools and lighting equipment.

How this affects you

Martin Street and its intersection with Ramsay Street will be re-opened to traffic following this work. Alt Street at its intersection with Ramsay Street will also be reopened to traffic.

Traffic control and pedestrian management will be in place to ensure the safety of motorists, residents and workers. If you travel along the route, please allow extra travel time and follow the signage and direction of traffic controllers.

There will be some noise associated with this work and every effort will be made to minimise this including using non-tonal reversing beepers on all machinery, turning off equipment and vehicles when not in use and where possible, directing noisy equipment away from residences.
