

New grouting area at Tempe Reserve

Tunnelling for the WestConnex New M5 tunnels is progressing under the Cooks River towards St Peters. Additional grouting is required under the Tempe Reserve carpark. It is required to seal the area underground from the surrounding water table prior to the arrival of the roadheaders (tunnel excavation machines) used for tunnelling.

What we're doing

A grouting worksite will be established at the northern end of the carpark (see map overleaf). A total of 15 carpark spaces is required for this work. Nine car spaces will be needed for this worksite and a further six car spaces to allow vehicles to turn. The work will include:

- Drilling holes to tunnel depth
- Undertaking an acoustic image of the ground conditions
- Grouting the length of the holes surrounding the area of the tunnels from 40m-81m below the surface, to prevent water entering the tunnel excavation area.

The work is expected to take approximately ten weeks depending on ground and weather conditions. The area will be restored to its original condition after work is completed.

The equipment used will include a drill rig, excavator, hand tools and trucks

How this affects you

The exit at the northern end of the carpark will be closed. Detour signage will be in place to guide motorists. Traffic control will also be in place during standard construction hours. We apologise for any inconvenience this may cause.
